Two drivers were thrown at the start of the first heat of the 2:22 pace at the fair this afternoon. Neither was hurt. A. H. Steadman of Winona, driving Dick S., and Austin Flynn, driving Airline, collided as the field scored down to the wire, and both were thrown. Flynn's rig was broken. Dick S. galloped around the track, and was caught in the stretch, and Steadman drove him in the heat. Shomboy won the first heat, with Apolomb and King Alton in second and third. King Alton is a new entry. The time was 2:21, considered remarkable for the track, which is heavy after last night's rain.

La Crosse day opened the week of the La Crosse Inter-state fair yesterday with an attendance of about 6,000. This record is better than that of several of the past years. In spite of a slightly chilled atmosphere and a cloudy sky the grounds were comfortably full shortly after 12 o'clock, and before the races started the grand stand was nearly sold out.

Many Attractions.
The number of attractions this year in the midway outnumbers and outshines those of any year. Some of the features are entirely new. All the shows reported excellent attendances. The motor-drome was completed by 2 o'clock in the afternoon and did a rushing business all day.

Several score of vendors, selling souvenir buttons, canes, candy and peanuts added their voices to the din. Secretary Van Auken moved between the grand stand and the entrance gate all afternoon, wearing a pleased expression as each event came off on time and as the gates let in more and more persons until the grounds were packed.

Between the flights of the aeroplane and the races a free exhibition was held on the open-air platform in front of the grand stand by the Davis troupe of acrobats. The act was conceded to be one of the best ever put on for the amusement

GET TO TRIAL OF GOVERNOR SULZER

Court Reserves Decision on Legality of Charges Until After Evidence
Is In

EXECUTIVE DENIES ALLEGATION
Admits that He Accepted Campaign Funds but Pleads Not Guilty

BY JOHN EDWIN NEVIN
(Staff Correspondent United Press.)
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The actual trial of William Sulzer, impeached governor of New York, whose removal because of "high crimes and misdemeanors" is demanded by the assembly of the state, is at last in progress. The attempt of his attorneys to halt the action without the taking of testimony failed.

Reserve Decision
Shortly before noon today, on motion of President Judge Cullen, the high court of impeachment decided to reserve decision until the entire evidence is before it on the motion on Sulzer's behalf to dismiss the three charges of the impeachment which charge crimes committed prior to Sulzer's taking the oath of office. In this connection, however, the Sulzer attorneys claim partial victory, as they feared their motion would be dismissed by a majority vote of the court.

The feeling in the senate chamber was intense when Attorney Fox, who has been fighting to the very last ditch in support of his contention that the impeachment, insofar as it charged perjury and the improper use of campaign funds was void at last sat down. Then in a cold, clear voice Judge Cullen claimed the attention of the judges. He referred to the importance of the question raised and that he personally believed they were of such a nature that they could not be decided off hand. He said that in his opinion the way to solve the problem was to reserve decision until the entire case was in.

Wins by 49 to 7
Senator Wagner, the majority leader, moved that this action be taken. There was a scattering of noes when the vote was called for and then Judge Cullen ordered a record call. The motion prevailed by a vote of 49 to 7.

As soon as the vote was announced Judge Herrick formally filed with the court the answer on behalf of Governor Sulzer. It was a complete denial of all the allegations except that Governor Sulzer admitted receiving the campaign contributions.

WEST SALEM LIGHT MATTER PUT OVER

The Railroad Commission
Grants Request of Swarthout for Month's Delay of Hearing

FAILED TO COMPLY WITH ORDER

Did Not Make Improvements at Alleged Primitive Plant but Requests
Indicate He Will

The railroad commission of Wisconsin has ordered one month's delay in the case of E. C. Swarthout, owner of the West Salem lighting plant who has been ordered by the commission to make necessary improvements at the plant.

The order of the commission was issued over six months ago and gave Swarthout six months in which to make the improvements deemed necessary by the commission. He, according to the commission, has failed to comply with the order.

The hearing, which was to have taken place today, was for the purpose of determining why orders of the commission had not been carried out. It was put off for a month at the request of Swarthout indicating that he intends to comply with the commission's order.

According to citizens of West Salem, who petitioned the commission for better lighting service, the plant of Swarthout is one of the most primitive, in point of equipment, in the country. It was installed over twenty-five years ago by Sam MacMillan and water is the power used in generating the light and current.

The order of the commission means new equipment throughout. He was ordered to build a new dam, install new and modern dynamos, switchboard and install new poles.

MILLIONAIRE'S HOME BURNS

SYNOD VOTES TO PUT SCHOOL HERE

Eastern Body of Reformed Church Would Accept Local Offer of Site and Cash Consideration

IS NOW UP TO CENTRAL SYNOD

College Will Not Come
Here Unless O. K. of Both Conventions Is Placed
on Proposition

The local board of trade today received word that the Eastern Synod of the Reformed church, which met in Washington, D. C., yesterday, had voted to remove the Mission House, as the church's theological seminary is called, from Sheboygan, Wis., to La Crosse.

The local committee in charge of the campaign to raise the $50,000 requested in addition to a site by the school, today expressed pleasure at the news. They said, however, that this does not make certain that the college will come to this city.

The matter has first to be taken up by the Central Synod, which meets this week.

Fair week activities have prevented active work on the part of the committee for several days, in the matter of raising subscriptions to bring the school here. A meeting has been called for tonight, however, and sub-committees to take up the active canvass, will be appointed.

PACKERS AGAINST CATTLE SUBSIDY

Refuse Resolutions Which Urge Direct Federal
Interest in Industry

GOVERNMENT PLANS ACTIVITY

Have Four-sided Policy
Which It Is Believed
Will Remedy
Scarcity

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—All suggestions that the government engage in or subsidize the cattle raising industry as a means of relieving the threatening beef famine, were rejected by the resolutions committee of the American Packers' association, which was to report at the closing session of the three day convention late this afternoon.

The resolutions committee voted down a specific proposal that the government appropriate $50,000,000 to lend to farmers to encourage the raising of cattle, and gave but scant consideration to the suggestion that Uncle Sam stock the western cattle country with more steers and employ cavalrymen as cowboys. The packers objected that both suggestions savored too much of paternalism.

James Craig of Detroit, Mich., first vice president, was to be elected president of the association at the closing session, succeeding Gustave Bischoff, Sr., of St. Louis.

U. S. to Aid Fight

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24.—The department of agriculture yesterday made public an extensive program by which it hopes to increase the American meat supply. The department will recommend and roster the following:

1. The establishment of municipal abattoirs throughout the country.
2. The raising of stock by small farmers.
3. The formation of co-operative livestock associations by the farmers of New England, the south Atlantic states, and the middle west.
4. The formation of boys' pig clubs, similar to the boys' corn clubs, which the department has been fostering for several years.

The beef situation is regarded as serious by congress, as well as the department of agriculture, and one of the first items of legislation which will be rushed through at the regular session will be the Smith-Lever agricultural extension bill.

Must Aid Small Farmers

The enactment of this bill into law will do much to encourage the raising of beef cattle by the small farmer, according to Representative Levee of South Carolina, chairman of the house committee on agriculture.

FLIES MEDITERRANEAN

PARIS, Sept. 24.—Aviator Roland G. Garros, crossing the Mediterranean in a monoplane, arrived at Bizerte, Tunis, at 1:45 p. m., according to a wireless dispatch to the Eiffel tower station yesterday afternoon.

Garros started from St. Raphael, on the southwest coast of France, near Nice, and made the 600-mile trip in seven hours and 53 minutes.

FACTORIES CLOSE

FAST TIME SURPRISES DRIVERS

Track in First Class Shape
and Both Races
Are Closely
Contested

Starters in today's races:
2:22 Pace, purse $500.—Airline, b. m.; Dick S., b. g.; Mary B., br. m.; Legal Heir, b. g.; Frank W., bl. g.; Lady Rollic, s. m.; Direct Aide, ch. s.; As You Like It, br. m.; Peter Chimes, ch. s.; King Alton, ch. g.; Frank Starr, b. g.; Bessie Hall, b. h.; Apolomb Jr., b. s.; Bonnie Oliver, b. s.

2:13 Trot, purse $600.—Dick Allerton, b. s.; Athelwood, bl. m.; King Carvel, bl. g.; Alice McGregor, b. m.; Exall, br. s.; Alie K., g. m.; Hokolo, b. s.; Johnny G., ch. h.; Meto, ch. m.; Mirthful Maid, b. m.; Six Cylinder Penn, b. g.

The mark for the fastest pacing ever done on the La Crosse fair grounds track was set yesterday afternoon in the 2:09 event when Rob Roy, driven by J. C. Haley, Madison, won three consecutive heats. His first heat was done in 2:12 1/4, the second heat in 2:12 3/4, and the third in 2:13 1/4. Some years ago Afright, driven by a Wisconsin owner, made a record of 2:12 1/4 and later was paced the distance by a runner in 2:11 3/4.

The two races yesterday afternoon were the opening events in the four day racing card that has been prepared for the week of the La Crosse Interstate fair.

Much better time was made in all the heats than was expected by horsemen as the clouds hung low over the track, causing a depressing feeling in the air, not inducing speed. According to horse owners who entered in today's events the track was in almost ideal condition, but just a trifle too soft. By tomorrow the track will be in a better condition possibly than in any previous year.

By the time starting Judge Charles F. Kennedy called "go" for the first heat of the trot the grandstand was comfortably filled.

Meto, the mare driven by Charles Nuel, Chicago, trot three out of five heats of the 2:18 trot, winning the event in 2:18 1/4. The little mare was in perfect condition, not minding the chilly atmosphere, taking the lead from the barrier in the first heat. Passing the wire for the first lap three horses crowded her for first place, but on the back stretch Nuel let her have the bit and by the time she was coming down home was easily in the lead, winning by a wide margin against the field of seven.

Exall, driven by J. W. Holle, Oregon, Ill., won the second heat in 2:19 1/4. Dick Allerton led the field for the first time around the track and but for a "break" would have won. Exall was back in the middle of a packed bunch, steadily drawing to the front until the back stretch was reached and he was leading. Mabel Riser, driven by T. E. Seigel, Janesville, Wis., pulled out in the lead from the wire, holding a fast pace all the way and winning easily. Meto won the two last heats, Cory Kibbert ran 2nd in the fourth heat. In this heat the ponies were well bunched together over the entire mile the winner not being decided until Meto pulled away from Cory Kibbert through a "break."

The final heat of the trot was possibly one of the prettiest horse races that was ever seen in La Crosse or vicinity. The horses were warmed by the four previous heats. The starting judge had considerable trouble with Cory Kibbert. The sorrel wouldn't start with the field and had to be "pulled" three consecutive times. When she got away with the crowd of six remaining horses the grand stand raised. It looked like Cory Kibbert. The sorrel went the quarter and broke, repeating this performance four or five times during the race. Each time she broke she was either leading or nose and nose with Meto who was keeping well in front all the time. Coming down the home stretch for the final heat of the day, The Deacon had pulled away from the bunched ponies and was leading. Mabel Riser and Exall trailed him with Meto in the middle hugging the rail.

FINISH WAS A SPECTACULAR PERFORMANCE

As the bunch rounded for home Meto came down the rail, passing the three horses and winning at the wire by a nose.

The cleanest of the performances of the day was the pacing in the 2:09 event. In the first heat, Sam led the four bunched ponies for the first lap, breaking near the wire for the start of the second time around, allowing Rob Roy, the winner, to establish a lead which he kept for remaining half. Sam led the second lap the entire distance, with the exception of a few spurts by Rob Roy, until the wire was reached, when Rob Roy beat him by a narrow margin.

By this time Rob Roy felt like a

colt back in the pastures outside of a holiday.

The commission ruled that no women should be employed in a mercantile establishment longer than eight hours and twenty minutes a day, nor more than fifty hours in one week, and that no women employ should be forced to work later than 6 p. m. Saturday nights and nights during the Christmas holiday season were made exceptions.

WAS HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Prof. W. R. Hemmenway, aged 63 years, for twenty-three years principal of the La Crosse high school and one of the best known educators ever connected with the La Crosse public schools, died suddenly at St. Paul last night.

Word to this effect was received today by Attorney John E. McConnell, personal friend of Prof. Hemmenway and the La Crosse lawyer will leave for St. Paul tonight. It is possible that arrangements may be made to bring the body to La Crosse for burial.

Prof. Hemmenway was born in Maine in 1850 and graduated from Bowdoin College in that state with the class of '74. Bowdoin college is where Attorney Frank Winter, La Crosse, attended school.

He came to La Crosse in 1877 and in 1885 was made principal of the high school for many years being succeeded in 1908 by Prof. Louis P. Benzeet, now superintendent of schools here.

During his twenty-three years as principal of the high school the majority of what are now La Crosse's business men studied under him.

For some time before his resignation Mr. Hemmenway was in ill health, but he declined to give up his school work until his failing health made it imperative.

He rested for a short time and recuperating went to St. Paul where his death occurred.

He is survived by one brother, Ralph Hemmenway.

Hold-up Victims Have in

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 24.—Pinning their faith to the wide publicity given descriptions of Joseph Ellis of Richmond, Va., suspected of murdering Joseph Shalansky here on Monday, the local police were hopeful today that Ellis would be captured shortly. When he is taken the police confidently expect him to confess hotel robberies in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toledo and Louisville.

A gold watch taken from a Louisville victim was pawned here by Shalansky's murderer which convinces the police, in spite of Ellis' many aliases and an impossible report that he is under arrest in San Francisco, that young Ellis, a Jew, committed the entire series of hotel hold ups.

Two sons of Shalansky positively identified the picture of Fred Brokaw, wanted for the Pittsburgh robbery, as the youth who here gave the name of W. R. Anderson and induced Shalansky to visit a hotel. A curious fact pointed out by the police today is that all of his victims were Jewish second-hand clothing dealers.

Shalansky's funeral, held today, attracted a large crowd. His widow and six sons, were among the mourners.

Declaring that she was married to Ellis, a 16 year old girl giving her name as Audra Baker, of 15 Nicholas avenue, Danville, Ill., shot herself today at her rooming place here in an attempt at suicide. At the city hospital, where her condition is reported serious, the girl said she married the supposed murderer under the name of Roy Anderson in her Danville home on July 5.

The police scout her story of her being Anderson's wife and have begun a searching investigation of her own identification.

BONE IS COMPLETELY SEVERED

Child Smiles as She Submits to Anesthetics at Prairie du Chien
Hospital

Run over by a mower yesterday, Ruby Nelson, three year old daughter of John Nelson of Gays Mills, suffered an injury to her right leg almost amounting to amputation. The scythe severed the bone and the limb was held together by the ligaments and flesh on one side. The wound was just above the knee.

Following an operation at the Prairie du Chien sanitarium it was announced that not only will the child live, but that the leg will be saved, although the operation involved the joining of the several arteries, veins and cords.

With her father standing alongside the operating table holding his baby's hand, Ruby submitted without protest to the administering of the anaesthetics. Although but a tot she seemed to know what had happened to her and what the doctors had to do. She looked up into her father's face as he held her hand and smiled as she went to sleep.

During the afternoon Mr. Nelson was cutting millet on his farm about a mile south of Gays Mills. When he left the farm house Ruby followed him, but as the grass was nearly three feet high he did not observe her movements.

Nelson was appraised of the accident by a scream that came from directly below his seat. He sprang to the ground and in an instant had lifted the machine from the body of the little girl and had her in his arms. The high grass in the spot in which she had been playing had entirely hidden her body and the burring noise of the scythe made it impossible for the father to hear any sound coming from the little girl. Mr. Nelson is of the opinion that his daughter knew the mower was coming, but that the grass was too thick for her to move out of the way quickly enough. He also thinks that the horses, seeing the slight form, carefully stepped over it. However, they did not halt, and the full force of the knives struck the child's leg.

Nelson, with the little form in his arms, hastened to the house. A rig was hitched up and the little girl was rushed to the hospital.

DENY DEPOT CHANGE

SOCIETY HAS SCANDAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Society today had a topic for discussion second only to that provided by the hurried departure of Clarence Mackay for Europe a few months ago, when Russell Landale, personal attorney for Mrs. Catherine Keitham Blake, wife of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, a prominent surgeon, admitted that Mrs. Mackay had been served with the summons in a suit for $1,000,000 for the alienation of Dr. Blake's affections.

CAPTAIN IS WASHED FROM DECK IN GALE

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Sept. 24.—At least one life was lost during the gale that swept over Lake Superior Sunday and part of Monday. For a time it also was feared that a passenger steamer, carrying at least 200 persons, had been lost, but the vessel, the Huronic of the Northern Navigation company, arrived here last night after a battle against the wind. She was more than twenty-four hours overdue.

The one victim of the storm was Captain O. W. Holdbridge, of the Whaleback Barge No. 137 of the Pittsburgh Steamship company. He was washed overboard from his boat late Saturday while it was in tow of the steamer Matosa, down bound, ore laden, from Two Harbors.

LAST NIGHT OF "PAID IN FULL"

Again the La Crosse Theater was packed from pit to dome last night. Splendid performances of good clean plays and high class special vaudeville between acts at cheap prices is something the average theatergoer is not going to overlook and it is plain to be seen that the Van Dyke and Eaton company are giving more for the money than ever before seen in a theater in La Crosse.

The last performance of "Paid in Full" will be given tonight. Starting Thursday matinee the bill for the last half of the week will be "Why Lindy Ran Away."

On Friday night, after the regular performance given by the company, "amateurs" of La Crosse will have an opportunity to show their ability as entertainers.

DISCUSS STANDARD OF 'PHONE SERVICE

Fifty Telephone Men Meet with Railroad Commission at Madison

AGREE ON WHAT IS GOOD SERVICE

Reasonably Prompt if 94 Per Cent of Calls Are Answered in Ten Seconds

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Standards of telephone service to be promulgated by the Wisconsin railroad commission were discussed at a public hearing given by that body yesterday attended by nearly fifty representatives of telephone companies operating in Wisconsin. Notification had been given every company in the state. The meeting was considered of so much significance by the Bell company that it sent members of its New York staff. The Chicago and Milwaukee offices of the Bell also were represented, and practically all of the independent companies in the state sent delegates.

Up to the present time no effort has been made to establish definite standards of telephone service. It is expected that Wisconsin will be the first state to adopt such rules. The representatives of both the Bell and the independents joined heartily in approving the plan.

Agreement was reached that on country systems the number of subscribers on a line should be limited to twelve; that one line should be kept for through service where cities and villages are served; that for all but the smallest exchanges the service is considered reasonably prompt if 94 per cent of the calls are answered in ten seconds; that provision for emergencies and for duplicate power and lighting in exchanges should be made; that standard phraseology should be adopted for handling calls; that all rules of interest to subscribers should be published in the directories and otherwise; and that a record of all complaints and irregularities in the service should be kept.

It is planned that modifications of the rules may be ordered where reason demands it.

FIND SLAIN MAN IN RIVER BOTTOM

MANKATO, Minn., Sept. 24.—The body of an unidentified man was found Monday near the Minnesota river. There were indications that the man was murdered.

The body was concealed by branches of willows cut with a dull knife. It apparently had been where it was found for two weeks or more.

The pockets were turned inside out, and were empty, indicating robbery as motive for the murder. A few feet away lay a center pin, used in coupling, and the back of the head seemed to have been crushed.

"Try One of My Betels."

In Siam they don't offer you a cigar or a cigarette, but a betel nut. There every one carries a supply of nuts in a neat little ivory box, not unlike the snuffboxes of our ancestors. The betel nut is a narcotic, in its effects not unlike tobacco, but it is much more harmful. Those who chew it suffer from inflamed gums, and they generally lose their teeth. The betel is a species of climbing plant, with a leaf not unlike ivy. It yields a crop of nuts, which are ground to a powder. This is mixed with a similar powder derived from the areca nut and made into a paste, which is wrapped in pieces of betel leaf.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Edna and Her Doll Family Are Photographed.

JACK and Evelyn knew by the grin on Daddy's face that he had some fun to tell them.

"Most little boys and girls like to have their pictures taken, especially if the pictures make them look nice," said he.

"Florrie and Mimi had theirs taken the other day by the Neighbor Lady. It was a charming picture, and little Edna, who had gone off and hidden behind some bushes, was quite sorry she wasn't in it."

"The next time she saw the Neighbor Lady she told her to be sure to down some day with her camera."

"I'm goin' have my pitcher taken, too," Edna explained.

"The Neighbor Lady said she was sure to come as soon as she could, so she did."

"It was a pleasant afternoon when she came down the road with camera, and the three children were in the yard."

"Edna did not run away and hide, as she generally does when neighbor come in. Of course the Neighbor Lady is not much of a stranger, but Edna's favorite games is playing pretend."

"Her sisters had told her that if she ran away she could not get her picture taken, so the little girl sat very quietly on the garden bench with favorite doll."

"She looks nice there, doesn't she?" the Neighbor Lady said to the children's mother. "Suppose we take her picture with her dolly."

"But Edna had ideas of her own as to how she wanted her picture done."

"Want picture taken with other dummies," Edna insisted.

"Then Florrie and Mimi began bringing out dolls and piling them up at one arm, the doll with half a head, the doll that would float, the rag doll, the wooden doll, the boy doll, the colored Dinah doll and many more."

"They couldn't stand the dummies in a row on the seat with Edna be up and draped them over the back of the seat."

"The Neighbor Lady tried to coax Edna to have just the best looking taken, but Edna was firm. It should be all or none of them."

"So the Neighbor Lady hurried and snapped the camera, and the picture was taken."

"And when it was finished Edna was quite put out because the doll at the ends of the row had not got into the picture."

"And now she says she will never have her picture 'taken' any more."

The following comment appeared in the New York Review, a publication devoted to theatrical subjects: "The extraordinary success of 'When Dreams Come True' which is entering into a long run at the Forty-fourth street theater, proves that first night opinion on Broadway is not infallible."

It is the policy of business men to find the drift of public appetite, and pander to it. Manufacturers of women's clothing are outdoing history in designing suggestive types; authors are straining the limits of decency in the production of risqué shows.

Why is "When Dreams Come True" so popular? Is it not because, even in New York, there lies deep beneath today's flippant exterior a love for the pure and wholesome to symbolize which nothing is so apt as the modest maid? Is it not possible that both writer and modiste would profit by the revival of the puritan?

CHAPTER XI. The Castle Children.

Imperceptibly to the child, the life of Francois swept into a changing channel. More and more he belonged to the general, the castle; less and less, though he still lived with them and was faithful to them, did he belong to his father and mother and the village life.

There was a farm in the Valley Delesmontes—five miles it was from Viques—which was a dependence of the seigneur; for centuries the same family had held it, and it was considered the richest holding for a peasant in that part of the world. Just now the family all at once came to an end. It was necessary to find new tenants, and the general offered the place to Le Francois and La Claire. Even in their best days they had not been so prosperous as this would make them. It was a large farm of four hundred acres, with a big house, with gardens and farm buildings and many horses and cattle—a rich great place for them and for their children.

La Claire and Le Francois, sitting stiffly on the fine chairs in the general's library, where they had been brought to hear the great news, asked that question suddenly in a breath. The general glowered at them from deep eyes.

"There is the screw," he fired the words at them like hot shot and La Claire shrank a little. "There's always a screw somewhere in every good thing. This time it's the boy."

There was a silence. Claire trembled. "The boy is your boy," the seigneur of the castle went on, quietly enough, and then in a flash brought his fist down on the table with a roar. "But, by heaven, he's my boy, too, now. He's a miracle of a boy and I love him like a son and I want to give him such a chance in life as I would have given had he been born my son. Are you going to stand in the way of that?"

Like bullets the words struck La Claire; she saw the way they led, and she rebelled at fate. It was cruel, now when they were able again to do all for the child which they had planned, to take the child away; yet that very ability to do for him was the gift of the man who wanted him. What could she say? "It will go hard with the lad to give us up," she brought out softly. "He won't give you up; I should not respect him if he gave you up," the general thundered, and the two peasants breathed more freely. This great good fortune was not, after all, the price of their son.

By degrees the three came to an understanding. And the peasant parents, seeing how the general, as he had said, did indeed love their boy; seeing also that he had a power beyond theirs to develop him; seeing that advantages and a career were waiting for little Francois if their love for him should be unselfish; seeing these things, the father and mother agreed to the general's plan. A tutor was to be engaged for the three children; Francois was to live at the castle as if—it should be explained to him—he were going away to school, and every Friday he was to walk to the Ferme du Val—the Valley Farm—and stay with his people until Sunday afternoon.

So, without realizing the change, the boy who had been the child of a peasant cabin became the child of the castle, and while entirely loyal to the home he still held to be his own, he learned ways of living and breathed in ideas which could not have come to him at the farm. The Fridays were eagerly looked forward to, and it was excitement and rapture to see and share in the new prosperity—the large stone house of a story and a half, roofed with immense oak shingles richly dark with age; the farm buildings clustered about it, connected with stone walls forming a large court; the big granary, standing astride on a hill slope; and the multitude of live stock—the seventy cows, the eight heavy work horses of the country, the six horses which pertained to the farmer for driving and riding, and the two pairs of mild-eyed oxen, used for breaking the heavy plow, and the father and mother reigned busily and happily over all this plenty, and all the brothers and sisters were together once more around them and the white-capped grandmother smiled a benediction from her big chintz chair. Such a greeting as Francois, her especial boy, got from the grandmother on a Friday evening after his long walk!

This new order of things was well settled before six months had passed after the going of the Marquis Zappi. Francois was not now allowed to fill the place of se-

tary except in an incidental way. The new tutor, a serious young man whom the children astonished and worried, copied the pages of the history of the Emperor. It was thought important now that Francois should work at his studies. There was a rumor already that he and Pietro might go together, perhaps, in a year more, to a military school—in fact, to Saint-Cyr itself if the marquis thought well of the place when he came home. And then in three or four months something happened.

"A Few Days—and Your Face Is Made Beautiful"

Rare Secrets Whereby Any Woman May Beautify Herself in a Remarkable Way. Given by the American Star, Valeska Suratt, the Most Famous Living Self-made Beauty. By Miss Valeska Suratt NEW history has come into the lives of scores of women who have used my formula for beautifying the face, arms and hands. It is a short, sweet history, as related in many letters I have received from women who had almost given up all expectation of ever being able to obtain the charms they sought by any of the ordinary means so commonly employed.

I say it is a short history because the results produced from my formula have invariably been secured in a wonderfully short time. I say it is a sweet history because these results have as a rule surpassed the expectations of all those who have used it. I say anyone may now beautify her skin to rival any of the great beauties of the world knows. There is no question about it. The formula requires only days where by any other common means months and months would be required. Mix two tablespoonfuls of glycerine with half a pint of hot water, and while stirring add one ounce of zintone, which will cost you not more than fifty cents at a drug store. Let it cool and it is ready to use. Use it very liberally for a short time, and your fondest hopes will be surely realized.

Nothing Better For Pimples Using creams for skin eruptions and pimples, will fail utterly. Mix twelve ounces of granulated sugar, one ounce of sarsene, which you should get by the ounce in the original package at the drug store, all dissolved thoroughly in a pint of water, and of this mixture take one or two teaspoonfuls three or four times a day. It will rid you of this distressing trouble quicker than anything else known.

Removes Blackheads in Few Minutes This is the way to get rid of blackheads, not in days or weeks, but in a few minutes. You will be astonished how wonderfully it acts.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.
 A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

The nomination of Fielder is a victory for President Wilson, who backed the acting governor against Frank Kathebach, Jr.

Feeding the Locomotive.

Today the factor determining the size and power of large locomotives is the physical endurance of the fireman, as an ordinary fireman cannot put in the firebox more than 5,000 to 6,000 pounds of coal an hour. This is one of the considerations which render compounding and superheating, which together under favorable conditions secure as much as 40 per cent economy in the fuel burned for a given output, such valuable factors in the development of the locomotive.—Chicago News.

Our Funny Language.

A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which a sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper runs while the sleeper sleeps. Therefore, while the sleeper sleeps in the sleeper the sleeper carries the sleeper until the sleeper, which carries the sleeper, jumps the sleeper and wakes the sleeper in the sleeper by striking the sleeper under the sleeper on the sleeper, and there is no longer any sleep for the sleeper sleeping in the sleeper on the sleeper.

The Composer of "Faust"

Gounod was one of the most fascinating men I have ever spoken with. His manner had a charm that was irresistible, and his kindly eyes, soft and melting as a woman's, would light up with a smile, now tender, now humorous, that fixed itself ineffaceably upon the memory. He could speak English fairly well, but preferred his own language, in which he was a brilliant conversationalist, and he could use to advantage a fund of keen, ready wit.—Klein in "Thirty Years of Musical Life in London."

Proved It.

Mrs. Brown arrived late at the regular meeting of her card club and appeared quite flustered, unlike her usual calm, well poised self. Upon being asked the cause of her apparent perturbation, she explained that while waiting for the street car she had been greatly annoyed by a strange man, who insisted upon talking to her.
 "What did you do?" inquired her sympathizing friends.
 "Well, to show him I was a lady, I slapped his face!"—Judge.
 Love doesn't make the world go round as often as it makes the lover go broke.

BABY IS HEIR TO $15,000,000 PILE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Cards were received here today from Great Island, Darian, Conn., introducing Miss Elizabeth Virginia Zeigler, a $15,000,000 heiress, to society. Miss Zeigler, one of the richest babies in the country, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Zeigler, and was born at the Zeigler country home Sunday. William Zeigler is the adopted son of the late William Zeigler, the baking powder king.

As the Printer Made It.

A story is told of a "printer's error" that once caused consternation in a country village. An arch in the church had become dilapidated and a fund was started for its repair. Upon one occasion, so as to make the appeal more widely known, the rector had a notice regarding the arch fund printed in the village, with the result that on the following Sunday the announcement appeared in large type, "The collection today will be for the arch fend."—Church Family Newspaper.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong and healthy and well.

An original package costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase if it fails in a single case.

UNDERSLUNG DOG FEATURES SHOW

$5,000 French Bull Dog the Center of Attraction of 255 Dogs in Kennel Club Show

"Abbey Skezicks," Chicago's $5,000 French bull, managed by Mrs. Hayes of that city, leads the entrants to the number of 255 in the fourth annual dog show of the La Crosse Kennel club, held in one of the largest tents on the fair grounds.
 The French bull is of the low, underslung, undershot-jaw type and a beauty. Some of the finest bull dogs in the county have been entered besides dogs from this city and from all over Wisconsin.
 Secretary Carl J. Bond, local dog fancier, has obtained a number of the best dog judges in the country for the judging which started at 9 o'clock this morning and will continue through the better part of the fair week.
 Bird dogs and setters of all varieties have a prominent part in the entries. The show this year not only exceeds in number and quality any show held here in previous years, but is one of the best shows held this season in the northwest. A competent corps of dog handlers have been obtained by the heads of the club to take care of the animals in their care.
 The dogs are put in separate kennels and are kept on the grounds all week.

A. W. Cates, Des Plaines, Ill., is managing the show. The Normandy kennels have entered several French bulls and F. H. Gatsby, Eau Claire, Wis., has entered several cocker spaniels.

The judges are the following: Mr. A. C. Madden, Glencoe, Ill.; Airedale Terriers, Bassett Hounds, Black and Tan (Manchester) Terriers, Bloodhounds, Bull Terriers, Bull Terrier (other than white), Fox Terriers (Smooth), Fox Terriers (Wire), Irish Terriers, Scottish Terriers, Bull-dogs, Collies, Old English Sheepdogs, Pugs, French Bulldogs.
 Mr. John W. Burton, Chicago, Ill.: All other breeds, miscellaneous and unclassified specials.

NERVOUS HEADACHES

Heavy Feeling, as if My Brain Was Pressing Down

Mrs. Hill says: "I cannot tell you how much I have suffered during the past twelve years." Twelve years is a long time for any one to suffer. A great multitude of women in this country know exactly what Mrs. Hill means when she says, "Heavy feeling, as if my brain was pressing down." So nervous I could not get my rest at night. Would have sinking spells and then so weak that I could not do my work." A great many women in the United States will recognize in this description their own experience.
 Mrs. Hill found a remedy. After taking four bottles of Peruna she gained in strength and flesh and wrote us that she was a well woman again. She says, "I cannot thank you enough for my recovery."
 This is no ordinary incident. Twelve years suffering. Four bottles of Peruna. Restored to perfect health. If Peruna can do this for one woman why can it not for another? Is it not worth your attention? Is it not worth trying?
 Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

MRS. EFFIE HILL, Blanchester, Clinton Co., Ohio.

The Sheikh and His House.

When the French came into contact with the Bedouin in Algeria it was thought that a ready way of civilizing
him would be to assist him to build himself a permanent habitation. A sheikh who was thus favored was full of gratitude to the French engineers
who had built him a house.

"Since my house was finished," he said, "I have not lost a single sheep.
I lock them up in my house every night, and next morning I find them
all in safety."

"Then where do you sleep yourself?"
asked an officer in amazement.

"Oh, for myself, a sheikh can live
only in his tent," said the other, with dignity.

Sure Sign.

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels
need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale,
doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour,
breath bad; has stomach-ache sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested
food and sour bile gently moves out
of its little bowels without griping,
and you have a well, playful child
again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative,"
they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent
bottle of "California Syrup of Figs,"
which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-up plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

WOULD ROOSEVELT GO ON G.O.P. SLATE

Reported He Has Refused
Definitely to State if He Would Turn Down
Nomination

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—"With Roosevelt all things are possible,"
was the general tenor of answers returned by United Press correspondents today on the remarks attributed to Senator Sutherland, at Salt Lake City
recently, that the colonel would be the republican nominee in 1916.

The Roosevelt query gained in interest by a statement from Representative M. Clyde Kelly, Pennsylvania
progressive, that the colonel had refused definitely to state to a progressive congressman, who recently visited him, that he would or would not accept a republican nomination.

"The question was put to Colonel Roosevelt point blank," said Kelly.
"He gave his visitor every assurance that such an event was most improbable, but he did not make a categorical answer."

"I believe," Kelly added, "that the talk of Roosevelt being named
by the republicans is buncombe,
merely an attempt to distort the
issue between the republicans and progressives. But even the loss of Roosevelt would not kill the progressive party. It is the party of principle and is not based on one man's personality."

"I believe if the republican party
is to be successful in the next election a progressive must be selected to lead the party," said Senator Gro-na, progressive republican. "La Follette, Roosevelt, Cummins, Borah or any of a dozen other prominent progressives would, I believe, be acceptable."

Sting of a Bee.

When a bee stings it gives its victim
a hypodermic injection of an irritant
poison. This is the bee's defense against its enemies. In the abdomen
of the bee lies a gland which secretes
the poison. This passes down to a double bulb in which it is stored until needed. From the bulb a slender tube passes through the sharp sting which lies in a sheath. When the bee stabs its sting into the skin of the man the muscles squeeze the bulb of poison and a drop of this is squirted into the wound.—New York World.

following this abridged city directory
is the abbreviation "Inc." A customer, while being measured, remarked to Jerry: "You seem to be the only man
in the shop whose name does not appear on the window. What's the trouble?" "Oh, I's dar, boss, all right," replied Jerry. "I's de ink."—Argonaut.

My sister Louise is also one of your graduates, and while there are hundred of so-called stenographers in Chicago who are idle, neither of us has ever had any difficulty in securing first class

TWO KILLED BY AUTO ACCIDENT

SHERBURN, Minn., Sept. 24.—
As a result of an automobile accident near here last night, Carroll Storm, 50, of Creston, Iowa, is dead; Thomas Weston is dying, and Lena Vern, of Boone, Iowa, is seriously injured. The party was returning from a fishing trip with C.
E. Claud of this city. Claud stopped
his machine on a bridge and started to back off when it skidded over the embankment. Stone was crushed to death.

Egged Off.

Phatt, after a brief experience on the road as Hamlet, returned to his old job in Canal street.

"How did you come to leave the stage?" I asked him one night.

"I had hints that I wasn't suited to
it," he replied.

Thinking he meant the critics, I
said:

"Aha, the little birds told you, eh?"

"Well," he said, "they'd have become birds, I suppose, if they'd been allowed to hatch."—Detroit Free Press.

FINE ENGINE DISPLAY

A. M. CASTLE COMPANY HAS NOTEWORTHY EXHIBIT AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR GROUNDS

Among the displays of farm implements at the Interstate fair, the exhibit of the A. M. Castle Engineering company stands out as noteworthy.
Gasoline engines form the principal item, and the line is large and comprehensive, and embraces engines
for every purpose, with horsepower from one and one-half to fifty. The display of the Emerson implements
and buggies form one of the most attractive parts of the showing. In addition to a splendid line of Emerson foot-life plows, whose lightness
and ease of operation commend them
to farmers everywhere, is shown the latest addition to the Emerson line,
the Emerson low-down manure spreader. The feature of this spreader is its low built construction, which makes it easy loading, and of much lighter draft than the usual pattern.
Being built closer to the ground,
the distribution is more even. The showing of ensilage cutters, feed
cutters, feed grinders, road drags,
cultivators and other miscellaneous
farm implements make this exhibit
one of the most complete and attractive of its kind.

6,000 ATTEND ON OPENING DAY OF INTER-STATE FAIR

of the occupants of the big pavilion. The act numbers seven persons, a family.

An excellent card has been prepared for today's racing events. The slight rain of the early morning put a thin coat of mud on the track. Track scrapers were put to work directly after the shower. The association promises to have a fast track by the time the first race starts today.

Never before has there been as large a number of entrants in the cattle branch of the exhibits. Some of the rarest breeds, for which this section of the country is noted, are on exhibition.

The prize cattle, hogs and sheep of the Minneapolis and Milwaukee fairs were obtained by Secretary Van Auker and are on exhibition.

Trains arriving hourly are bringing more visitors. They are scattered all over the city in hotels and at private houses. Prospects are that when the final record is given of the total attendance for the week it will exceed many of the attendances of years previous.

Last night the grounds were forsaken for the downtown streets and the merchants received their benefit from the large crowds. At 8 o'clock last night Main street was comfortably filled with people. Early this morning a large majority of them returned to the fair grounds.

The Caledonia Street Methodist church has charge of the restaurant this season on the grounds.

Charles F. Niles made two fine flights at the inter-state fair yesterday afternoon under most adverse weather conditions, but the consensus of opinion was that he more than duplicated the daring Beachey, whose successor he is with the Curtiss people this year. That he is as daring as Beachey but not as foolhardy, is the opinion of the experts of aviation, but that he will more than equal Beachey's record before the season is over. At least he thoroughly demonstrated his intrepidity with a bi-plane yesterday in two flights covering 32 minutes.

Flew While Ill.
Mr. Niles was ill all of yesterday and has been confined with a bad attack of grippe in Chicago for three days before coming here. After consulting a physician here yesterday he went to the field bundled in a heavy ulster and at 3:30 made his first flight. He went up about 1,800 feet on his first flight and 3,500 on the second. At 3,500 feet his little pocket thermometer registered 20 above zero, and he wore no gloves or overcoat.

Niles was much impressed with the topography of the outlying country about La Crosse. Speaking to some friends at the Elks' club last night, where he was guest for a short time, he said:

"You residents here have but little conception of the beauty of the country about you as viewed from the air. When I circled up north over the Mississippi, I secured a grand view and the panorama that was spread out below me impressed me very much as it looked like a wonderful farming country and also a wonderful country for flying, as there are so many good landing places. People have told me of the Wisconsin and Minnesota country as being devoid of beauty, and of course from a train it might appear so, but believe me, when a man views it from where I did, he must change his mind. I have certainly enjoyed my day in La Crosse, as everybody has been so cordial and considerate of me. The manner in which the spectators kept out of the infield today, before I landed, helped me more than can be realized, as landing is a more dangerous proposition than it looks. It makes me nervous to have people nearby for fear of injuring them.

Air Currents Bad.
"I am fully determined to show some clever stunts before I leave La Crosse. Of course today the air currents were bad, but with better conditions I think that I can prove my assertion that I can better Beachey at his own game."

Niles is nicknamed throughout the circles of aviation as "Do-Anything Niles," because of his lack of fear in performing stunts in aviation.

Niles is a chap 24 years old and weighs 148 pounds when ready to fly. His home is in Rochester, N. Y., where he started flying three years ago. He has never had a serious mishap but has had some close calls, especially last October at Bath, N. Y., when he was trying for an endurance record. His motor went to pieces at 7,000 feet and he was obliged to volplane to earth.

To Take Up Monoplane.
He will soon leave the biplane flying and enter the monoplane field with a 125 horse power Blériot which is under construction for him. He will go to France the first of the year with the new machine to endeavor to secure some records. It was while in Paris last December that he became imbued with the possibilities of the monoplane and the coaxing of Aviator Pegoud, who flew upside down last Sunday, decided the question for Niles. He is anxious to try the "loop the loop," but of course this is impossible with a biplane, as it cannot attain the necessary speed.

Niles had one bad drop yesterday. On the first flight he was going directly into the wind and barely moving. He attempted to bank into the northeast when a bad cross current coming out of the valleys around Grandd bluff caught him and gave him a plunge of about 30 feet before he alighted on a steady bank of air.

Niles will attempt most of his daring tricks today and Thursday if weather conditions are not too adverse.

NORMAL IS PROUD OF LECTURE SERIES

Committee Announces List of Noted Entertainers or the Course

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA TO OPEN

Sixteen Members of Noted Theodore Thomas Organization of Chicago to Be Here

The Normal school entertainment and lecture committee feels rather proud of the talent secured for the course this season. That the course offers variety and is made up of persons and companies of eminence, a glance at the list of attractions will show.

One aim of the committee is to bring to La Crosse only the talent of such high grade (and therefore in such demand by larger cities and older institutions of learning as to command the highest prices) as could not otherwise be heard by the great majority of the young people of our school and city. "High class" and "unusual" may be said to characterize the five numbers for the season of 1913-14. Not how many numbers but how good has been the guiding principle in choosing the talent.

Opens October 2
On the evening of October second the course will open with a concert by a part of the famous Chicago Symphony orchestra, until recently known as the Theodore Thomas orchestra. This representative section of the Chicago Symphony orchestra is offered to the music-loving patrons of the course in the belief that nothing finer in its line can be chosen from the musical resources of the central west. Programs chosen from their wonderfully extensive repertoire are always of rare musical excellence, and at the same time charming in variety. All the players are virtuosos, while continuous association assures a perfect ensemble.

Dr. Wiley to Speak
Dr. H. M. Wiley, for so many years chief chemist in the U. S. department of agriculture, is to be one of the most attractive lecture numbers.

In his fight for pure food and pure food legislation, he has gained the title of the Great Conservator of Public Health. His authorship of many books and papers, the many high positions on juries of awards in national expositions; the offices of trust he has held in the government, as well as his being an admittedly high authority on the subject of adulteration, food, public health, all conspire to make his one of the eagerly anticipated numbers of the course. The fact that he has severed all government relations so that he may be free and unhampered in what he has to say, and the further fact that he has made a trans-continental tour, talking to the largest of chautauqua audiences, together with his published utterances in his line, all denote Dr. Wiley as a man with a message, and give some reason for his being associated in the public mind with Henry Ward Beecher, John B. Gaugh, and Wendell Phillips.

Wisconsin Dramatic Society
Another attraction is the Wisconsin Dramatic society, an organization of players, unique in the history of dramatic development in the United States. This company has for its aim not only the encouragement, by moral support, to native drama, but also the more vital kind of fostering which a sincere presentation of new plays affords. More particularly, they wish to exploit drama native to the middle west. Several members of the society are themselves producers, so that they furnish the material for the company to produce. The society also dramatizes novels, and adopts plays of virility by foreign authors. Young as the society is, it has already some marked success to its credit. Almost without doubt the work of some Wisconsin writer will constitute at least a part of the society's offering in La Crosse.

Dr. N. D. Hillis
Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, is perhaps the most talked of platform and pulpit orators in America today. When it is remembered that his delivered lectures in the United States have long since passed the 1250 mark and that they have included every state and territory but one, something of his popularity and the demand for his services will be appreciated. He is the author of a dozen published works, and a man of very unusual power. His subjects range over the field of history, sociology, biography, ethics, art, letters and religion.

Famous Pianist
The musically informed part of the local audiences will need only the name of Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler to attract them to this number of the course. But it may not be amiss to remind all that her repeated tours of the largest cities in Germany, Austria and France, as well as in other countries of Europe, where her successes were always in the nature of sensational triumphs, have won for her the title of the greatest woman pianist. She has for years played with the various leading American orchestras, including those of Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, etc. Her appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra has frequently attracted record breaking crowds. Her fingers are said to overcome difficulties as by magic; all music critics commend in the most extravagant terms her technique, her skill, her interpretative ability.

GILLIS CASE OUT OF COURT TODAY

State Requests that Street Car Conductor Mixed in Shooting Affair Be Released by Judge

The Henry Gillis case was dropped from the records of the county court this morning when the district attorney requested Judge Brindley to dismiss the case against the street car conductor.

Gillis has been on bail since the morning, several weeks ago, when his former wife was found in his apartments at Fifth and Vine streets, with a bullet in her breast. The woman maintained it was self-inflicted but various stories by both herself and Gillis led to the arrest of the latter.

The chief reason for the move for dismissal this morning was the unwillingness of Mrs. Gillis to make any statement that would in any way jeopardize her former husband.

Gillis nor the woman appeared today, District Attorney Law appearing for the state, and Attorney Fred H. Hartwell for Gillis.

CALLS VEAL EATING A WANTON WASTE

Arthur Meeker Advocates Laws Prohibiting the Killing of Calves for Food

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—To stop the marketing and slaughtering of calves; to educate the American people against the eating of veal and to enlist the state governments in a war on disease among cattle, are the proposals by which Arthur Meeker, vice-president of Armour & Company, would eliminate waste in the beef market and lower the cost of meat. He gave this opinion today when asked how best to expend the $500,000 appropriated by the American Packers' association to educate the people against waste.

Mr. Meeker stated today that ten million calves were slaughtered last year. Each of these netted sixty pounds of dressed meat. If they had been allowed to grow to the two year mark, they would have netted ten times as much.

"One-third of the annual cattle supply is wasted in this fashion to satisfy the taste for veal," he said.

The waste man follows the lines of least resistance by telling all women how well they look and all mothers their babies are beautiful.

TO INVESTIGATE AMERICAN DEATH

The State Department Will Probe Reported Murder of Peorian in Mexico

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The state department wired Consul Wilbur T. Grace yesterday at Progresso, Mexico, to proceed immediately to Champontion and investigate the reported murder near there of Victor East of Peoria, Ill. Representative Fitzhenry of Illinois asked the department to take action after an appeal from East's brother, Stanley, of Peoria.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 24.—Judge C. B. Elliott, famous authority on international law, who has made a careful study of Mexican politics, declared his belief today that Porfirio Diaz would be a candidate for the presidency of that republic, to succeed Huerta.

"Diaz will probably receive a wonderful reception on his return from exile," said the judge. "If there is sufficient enthusiasm he undoubtedly will seize an advantageous opportunity to become a candidate for re-election."

MADRID, Sept. 24.—General Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, today was on his way home, ending an exile of nearly two and one-half years, according to information here. Diaz is said to have sailed late yesterday from Santander, Spain, for Mexico, aboard the steamer Espagne.

MURDER OR HOAX Baffles Police

Unable to Decide if Alleged Trunk Mystery Is Crime or a Joke

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—With the police still perplexed and unable to determine whether they are confronted by a hoax or a real murder problem, investigation of the latest Chicago "trunk mystery," took a new and queer angle today.

A telegram from the chief of police of Walnut, Ill., brought the news that Mrs. Kate Cooley left her home there for Chicago two weeks ago and has not been seen since. The automobile, that is supposed to have carried away a trunk containing a human body early yesterday, bore Illinois license tag No. 77439. That number is held by Mrs. Cooley.

Detectives were furnished descriptions of Mrs. Cooley today and a search instituted for her. The police have been unable to obtain any clues to the whereabouts of the auto in which the trunk was driven away.

"STOLEN" HORSE FOUND IN BARN

While the police were frantically searching La Crosse and surrounding country last night for the horse and rig of William Pierce, Green Coulee farmer, supposed to have been stolen on the North side, the animal was safely stowed in the barn of Ole Brown, North side saloonkeeper.

Pierce, in town to attend the fair, hired a man for farm work. He started the drive home with his acquisition. Nearing a saloon Pierce offered to buy a drink and left the rig. Returning with the beer, he found man, horse and rig gone.

The man deserted the rig near the Brown saloon, however the finder failed to notify the police until early this morning.

"ROBBERS' LOOT" CON-MEN'S TOOL

Bar of "Gold" Found Near Fountain City Is Copper and Tin and is Gold-brick Used by Grafters

The supposed bar of gold discovered by Herman Putzier, Fountain City hotel keeper, in the woods near the up river city, was yesterday declared by P. U. Meyers, a Winona chemist, to be a good hefty bar of copper, alloyed with tin, and worth maybe a dollar and a half.

The story that the bar was part of the loot secured by a band of robbers who got clean away after robbing a bullion train at Victory a score of years ago is thereby exploded.

But another explanation, which has romance and interest enough to please the most exacting, has been worked up by the old inhabitants of Fountain City. They claim now that the bar is the discarded tool of a gang of con men, who tried to work the gold brick game on a noted Fountain City grain dealer twenty years ago, when that particular form of graft was in its pristine vigor.

WILLIAM LOVEJOY CALLED BY DEATH

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all typified in S. S. S.
Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing further and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know
from painful experience.
To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S., the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.
This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy
selection of its own essential nutriment,
and the medicinal elements of this match-
less blood purifier are just as essential to
well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.
Not only this, but if from the presence
of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.
Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.
In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control
that remarkable changes are observed. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.
From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it.
And if you desire faithful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin
write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to lull the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good"
as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

Maisie's Forest Ranger

By CORA A. M. DARTMOUTH

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
"He is hunting for big game, he
said."

"Then he's lost his bearings," quoth Timothy, blandly. "There's nothing larger than a woodchuck or a deer on Mount Euphrata. I can't abide him myself."

Dave's broad shoulders shook with silent mirth at the old guide's retort.
"Neither can I, Tim. He gets my goat and all the home flock of sheep,
too. He's too good to be true. Have you been up to his camp?"

"Camp? he ain't got a camp. He's living in the old stone house on the west slope. The hunters always have quarters there, and there's a bed and stove and table. That's where his camp is. I don't know where he got the horse from, but he acts suspicious
to me."

"I give $20 and more to find out something about him straight. The young ladies rather take to him, Tim."

Tim nodded understandingly and shifted his pipe. Down below them
lay the camp, its white tents showing up in the moonlight. The melody
of a mandolin came up to them.
Somebody was singing, too, the old Spanish air, "La Paloma," in Spanish.

"That's him," said Tim, with a grunt of disapproval. "He's been singing in French and German and now it's Spanish. Got all the folks
there listening to him, specially the women."

"Was he here before we came up?"
Tim shook his head doubtfully. "I can't say, Mr. Axtell, I come and go through the valley and round the mountains, but I don't usually come this high up. Most of folks ain't as anxious for high views as your party,
so that way I may have missed his coming."

Dave shifted his position restles-
sly. He had been there in camp for three weeks now, and the very first day of their arrival there had ridden down the mountain this handsome, careless, debonaire youngster.
He wore gray trousers and a gray
flannel shirt, and was always hatless.

Maisie had been partial to him
from that first day. She was rather serious and liked mystery. With her wide blue eyes looking after the vanishing figure of their neighbor
she had declared they must do all they could to make things pleasant
for him.

"There are nine of us, Dave, and there he is all alone. I told him to ride down every day, and just make himself at home."

"You don't know a thing about him," growled Dave.

"Yes, I do. His name is Paul Carter, and he's been a forest ranger out West some place."

"He was good on details, wasn't
he?"

"I really think," she paused to let the accusation sink in for all it was worth. "I really think you're Jealous, Dave."

"Why shouldn't I be? Here I've been tagging after you for years
ready to marry you at the drop of your handkerchief, and I can give you everything you want—"

"Can you, Dave?" She smiled the little maddening, enigmatical smile
he always detected. "You're big and good-natured, and I suppose you would be a 'good provider.' She laughed teasingly. "That's what fat-ther always tells me. But what do you know of a woman's real heart?"

"What do you—at nineteen?"

"I know one thing, anyway. You've got to bring more to a woman today
when you ask her to be your wife
than just a check book and a pleasant disposition. Mr. Carter seems to understand, some way, everything
I say, and even think."

"Made good progress, hasn't he, in two visits?"

"You're jealous already."

"By George, I think I am," flared up Dave. "I'm sick and tired dancing attendance forever, while you flirt with every Tom, Dick and Harry who shows up on the scene."

"Go talk to mother and Aunt Belle," Maisie suggested kindly.
"You mustn't fret me when I'm reading, and this is poetry. I'm going to lend it tonight."

Dave checked the rising flood of words on his lips, seeing Timothy's shock of red hair rise suddenly behind some bushes. He strolled away
and met him at the turn of the road.
Every day they went through the autumn woods hunting game, while Maisie and the other girls sat around
Mr. Carter, with Maisie's aunt and mother quite as entranced, listening to the stranger read aloud. The mystery around him enhanced his attractiveness. He seemed to have traveled everywhere, and he was so charmingly indefinite.

"I drift about as it pleases me,"
he told them. "Now here, now there.
I love nature in her wildest mood.
She lures me. From here I shall go farther north, possibly into Canada.
Yes, I feel sure it will be Canada
next."

"We break camp next week," Maisie said one day as they watched the sunset from the trail above the camp.
"Isn't it queer to think we may never meet again?"

He stood behind her, leaning back against a tree, the sunset throwing a red light over him and on his face. He was looking down at her, at her loosened fluff hair, her provocative lips and long-lashed eyes that drooped at the corners. And suddenly he reached down and took her hands, pulling her up beside him. In a flash all of his polish, his cloak of good manners and conventionalities

dropped from him. He was eager,
intense, desperate.

"Listen to me. I know you like me. You don't have to say so. Let's make a break from the camp and get away tonight. I know the northern trails away from the towns and railroads, and we'll get to Canada au-
right, and from there we'll go West and take up a claim. They'll never get us, and I'll make it heaven for you, Maisie girl, I swear I will.
Come here."

He caught her around the waist,
but before Maisie's aunt could gather breath to call for help, there came
one smashing blow from behind her which landed on Carter's jaw. Dave stood over him, smiling grimly, and directing the two men who were deftly and swiftly slipped on a pair of handcuffs over Carter's wrists.

"Take him down. I'll come along presently." Dave waited until the trio had passed ahead of them down
the trail. Maisie stood motionless,
her eyes bright with anger. Before

Dave could speak, she held out her hands to him.

"What has he done?"

"Broke out of the penitentiary a month ago. He's a clever youngster too, the sheriff tells me. Sent up eighteen years at hard labor for forgery. Are you hurt any, dear?"

His arms folded about her quite naturally, and this time there was no resistance. Maisie hid her face against the broad shoulder with a sigh
of relief.

"Dear old Dave," she said, thankfully. "Let's go back home soon. I'm awfully tired of woods and camping
—and—fugitives."

Dave smiled and patted her head.
"That's all right, kiddie. I knew it was just the general atmosphere
around him, and those poetical curls.
He'll be back at the rock pile by morning."

ALF. RINGLING IS SUED FOR DIVORCE
MADISON, Wis., Sept. 24. — Mrs.
Alfred T. Ringling, Baraboo, wife of the millionaire circus owner, has sued him for an absolute divorce and division of property.
Judge E. Ray Stevens, in Circuit court, heard testimony and took the case under advisement. Mr. Ringling was not present, but was represented by Aylward, Davies and Olbrich.

Mrs. Ringling asserts as grounds
for the divorce that her husband has without cause deserted her, having been absent for about four years.

My Doctor Said

"I would never get well," writes Mrs. Jennie Cassady, of Bringinghurst, Ind. "For years I suffered with different forms of womanly troubles, and had pains all over—especially in my head and back. I was not able to do my own work. My heart bothered me, and it seemed like everything I ate would turn sour. I suffered misery every month, and could scarcely drag around. After taking 6 bottles of CARDUI in two months' time, it cured me. I recommend CARDUI to all my friends. I wish all suffering women would try it as I did, for they would certainly be benefited." Don't neglect your troubles.

COATS AND SUITS FOR AUTUMN DAYS

By MAY MANTON

COULD anybody find a prettier, smarter coat than the one here illustrated (figure 1) for the autumn suit? The abruptly cutaway fronts and the slightly elongated back give beautiful becoming lines. The narrow Tuxedo collar and the rolled-over cuffs mean real distinction. Since there is only one button, it can be made handsome without undue cost and the buttons of the season are in themselves a study. Besides being smart and becoming, the coat is easy to make and that fact is appealing. The straight lines give slenderness. There is a tendency toward the use of rough and velvet finished fabrics for fall and, among the new suitings, wool velours, both plain and striped takes a prominent place. Wool éponge is to be much worn too and, for handsome suits silk is greatly liked, moiré finished, ribbed and the poplin weavers that have become such an established favorite.

No feature of the season is more remarkable than the way in which one-piece skirts are handled. Most effective draperies are produced with a single strip of fabric, and almost infinite variations. This one is exceptionally becoming and attractive, yet it means almost no labor for the making. There is only one piece of material with the plaits so laid that they give the graceful folds and lines, and the edges overlapped at the front. The finish can be made at the high or natural waist line, as liked, and the front edge can be buttoned into place or can be stitched to the desired depth. The front edges can also be curved as in this instance or made perfectly straight.

FIGURE 2 shows a costume that would be handsome developed in almost any seasonable suiting. Wool velours suggests itself almost immediately because it is so handsome and is to be much used but there are a great many cloths and suitings of lighter weight and silks are to have great vogue, although wool materials with velvet finish make one of the important novelties. This costume shows an extremely smart coat with a suggestion of the Empire effect and a little waistcoat.

The skirt which includes a few plaits is very new and very smart. It allows of walking with comfort yet it preserves the fashionable straight lines. Nothing better could be found either for the autumn suit or for the indoor gown of light weight wool or silk. A pretty feature is the pointed belt arranged over the high waist line. There are three gores, the back gore being laid in plaits. The front gores are lapped one over the other above a plaited panel. Such a skirt is easy to make while it is in the very height of style. In the illustration, wool éponge is effectively trimmed with buttons.

THE newest coats give evidence of the Directorate influence and show these high rolled-over collars and deep cuffs. This one is exceedingly smart and can be made with either cutaway or straight fronts with either plain or belted back, but the plain back and cutaway fronts mean the greater distinction. Coats of this kind will be made with skirts to match and of contrasting material in equal numbers. Plain cloth with striped or checked is promised great vogue. For the early season, coats of silk will be worn over wool material. The lines are the smartest possible and the coat eminently chic while by no means difficult to make. There are shoulder darts in the front that give roundness to the bust and only shoulder and under-arm seams are needed. The collar requires merely an interlining of good quality canvas to make it a success. This coat is made of broadcloth with only stitched edges but binding of braid is to be much used this season and is exceedingly handsome on cloth as on other suitings. Made with straight front edges and with either plain or belted back, the coat becomes slightly more practical, but there is a distinction and a fascination in the cutaway fronts that render them desirable.

THE coats of the spring are really fascinating. They are simple in general effect yet they show a great many little touches that are exceedingly smart and even distinctive. The second coat includes a back that is cut in two sections and these sections are joined to give the high waist effect. In one view, there are tab-like extensions on the side portions and, in the other, they are left plain, and either finish is correct. The vest makes an important feature, too. It is found in the handsomest models of the spring and it gives just the little touch of contrasting material that is delightful. A very charming effect could be obtained by the use of Bulgarian embroidery or one of the handsome brocades for the vest, or it can be made from one of the Oriental embroideries that can be bought by the strip and are always so beautiful. For the coat itself, any seasonable material is appropriate. Ratiné seems to suggest itself immediately, for it is to be much worn.

but there are silk suitings without number and there is generous opportunity offered for the exercise of taste and discretion.

THE next figure shows a coat with the fronts buttoned over while the collar is turned down over the shoulders. It can also be made up in directorie style as shown in the small view underneath. The means by which the changes can be produced are very simple, but the two effects, nevertheless, are distinctly different. In the illustration serge is made with velvet trimming. Coats of this kind are made with skirts to match and also velvet, silk and the like to be worn over different materials.

THE single-breasted coat with cutaway fronts and longer back is a very smart one, eminently attractive and generally becoming. Here is a model that can be made in that way or with straight fronts and which is adapted to all the seasonable suitings. The model can be used for velvet to be adapted to more dressy occasions and it can be used for all the handsomer as well as the simpler materials. Contrasts as well as entire costumes are in vogue and the coat made of velvet for wear over a silk or wool skirt would be handsome. Seams that extend to the shoulders give slender becoming lines and the sleeves are the new ones without fullness at the shoulders.

THE short, jaunty coat is charming. It has the bolero fronts with the coat back which are to be found in the very smartest models. The back can be either square, round or pointed. It would be difficult to find any prettier, more jaunty or more satisfactory garment of the kind. The fronts are fitted by wide darts which are novel and over these darts is arranged trimming. The slightly open cuffs make an important feature. Such coats are made of material to match the skirt and also of contrasting material, and all sorts of pretty silks, poplin and materials of the kind are liked for the latter use. Brocaded or broché material worn over a plain gown makes an exceedingly good effect.

THE cutaway coat is unquestionably the smart one just now. Here is a model giving the long straight lines of the back that are so generally becoming and made with exceedingly smart revers and collars. The fronts are distinctive being slightly full over the bust, while the peplum portion is cut absolutely plain. Such a coat is charming for every fashionable material and also is to be desired for the separate coat that can be worn with any harmonizing gown or slipped on to any separate costume. For separate use, a charming satin of a favorite material in plain color worn over a skirt or a gown made of brocaded or figured material showing the same colors would be exceedingly handsome and exceedingly smart.

THE belted coat is essentially smart and this one (figure 3) with its elongated waist and broad band suggestive of the Balkan idea is so youthful in style that it is peculiarly well adapted to young girls and to small women. The garment is a smart one, yet absolutely simple. It is the easiest in the world to fit and the home dressmaker will find it a boon. The body portion is made with only shoulder and under-arm seams and is gathered at the lower edge. The peplum is perfectly smooth and the belt conceals the joining of the two. The coat is in the height of style both with skirt to match, making an entire costume, and made from silk or other seasonable material to be worn over a contrasting skirt.

WAISTCOATS are conspicuous in autumn costumes and the materials shown for them are so beautiful that they will take an important place. Here is a coat (figure 4) that includes a rather wide waistcoat that can be worn either with or without the belt. It is a simple garment and by no means difficult but since the collar can be made in two ways and the sleeves longer or shorter, it is susceptible of a good deal of variation. One of the suggestions made is for plain colored material trimmed with striped silk and velvet; another shows checked material trimmed with plain. Both are excellent and there are many other beautiful materials appropriate for waistcoats to be found at every turn. A coat of wool velours with the trimming of moiré silk would make an exceedingly beautiful effect. One of the new pebble finished cheviots would be handsome with trimming of broadcloth or éponge is pretty with broadcloth trimming, this last being greatly in vogue for uses of the sort while the rough cloths seem to be preferred for the costume itself. For the silk suit, brocade makes a handsome vest. There seems to be offered a limitless number of appropriate and handsome fabrics, both silk and wool. We are to wear combinations throughout the autumn and the coat of plain material over a skirt of striped which reappears in the trimming is smart. There is no doubt as to the vogue of the walking skirt that shows just a little drape. The newest ones are draped at the front and this one gives long, unbroken lines at the back that provides slenderness of effect. Some women like the high waist line, others prefer the natural and either can be used for both as smart. Also the front edges can be made straight or curved as each wearer may like. There are only two seams, the front and back edges being lapped.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Wheat held fairly well today, in spite of a lower cable and continued heavy receipts at the northwestern markets. The market had an easier tone shortly after the opening, but later in the forenoon there was a rally that brought prices to about yesterday's closing levels.

Corn was easier shortly after the start, principally because of the momentary weakness in wheat, but to ward noon buying increased and the market recovered the early loss, holding firm at about last night's closing prices.

Oats opened with an advance of 1/4c but some of the commission houses were heavy sellers and in the forenoon trading the early advance was lost.

Provisions were lower because of the weakness in the hog market. A slump in wheat prices in the afternoon was followed by a break in corn and oats. All grain futures declined 3/4 to 1/2c and were weak at the close.

The decline in the grain list had its effect on provisions and prices generally eased off in the afternoon.

Watching The Scoreboard

BY HAL SHERIDAN

If in search of some real excitement during these final days of the season watch the fight for the upside down championship of the American League.

Both the Yankees and Browns won yesterday and as the Yankees are in seventh place only by a margin of two points a ship while St. Louis is winning will skid them into the cellar.

Ray Caldwell stood the Cleveland Naps on end for the Yankees, letting them down with four hits. Joe Jackson got one of the hits.

Ty Cobb continued his nailing of the batting championship, however, by driving out two safeties in five times up.

This Speaker was mixed up in a double header but connected for only one hit in seven times at bat.

Having nothing else to do the Athletics spent the first day of the vacation which Connie Mack said they would get by setting a high water mark for runs scored this season.

The Mackmen made 25 hits good for 30 bases and 21 runs. Pennock was the only man failing to get a hit and Innis and Walsh led with four each.

St. Louis prevented Washington from again bringing the race for second place to a tie by rattling ninth inning finish which left the Senators on the short end of the score.

Pittsburg scored but one run on the Brooklyn Dodgers in 18 innings. Yingling and Rucker had the Pirates number in both games of a double header. Reader allowed but five hits.
